Join us for an introduction to the redesigned BC curriculum. Learn about the core competencies, big ideas and other key features of the new curriculum to support your child's learning.

• November 15, 2016

BC's new curriculum is preparing children for success in a changing world. How we communicate student learning is changing as well, as we look to new and enhanced means of sharing learning with students and their families. We want to hear from parents their questions, thoughts and input as to current and future methods of communicating student learning.

RSVP to Lisa Urata by email, lurata@sd38.bc.ca, with number of people attending. Chinese Interpreters will be available.
